The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) was updated in 2024 under Title II, extending its coverage to various levels of government entities. Ensuring that all digital resources in your library, such as websites, databases, apps, and social media, are accessible to all visitors – whether in person or online – is crucial.

Join this webinar to dig into the implications of these changes on your library's services and tools, how to implement them, and the potential consequences of not complying with these new regulations.
